The zero-indexed BCD format only applies to the receive alarm command (header 0xF7). I should say more specifically, this is the only place where I've seen the 0 indexed BCD format for alarms. Other than that the rest of the file looks good.